Leaders Refuse To Give Hearing To La Follette

Adopt Attitude of Indifference to Radical Group in Convention
CONSERVATISM IS KEYNOTE
Platform Will Be Entirely in Accord with President Coolidge's Wishes

BULLETIN
Cleveland, Ohio.—A committee headed by Representative Madden of Illinois has been appointed by the Illinois delegation to confer with Lowden and urge him to accept the vice presidential nomination. He will be told that the friends of President Coolidge hope he will accept. Should Mr. Lowden finally decline as seems likely the White House favors the selection for vice president Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa for whom there is already a definite sentiment among the delegates.

Convention hall, Cleveland.—The Republican national convention has developed these three distinct characteristics thus far:

First, that there should be no catering to the radicals and LaFollette group, no compromises, no attitude which begs support, nothing but a polite and tolerant indifference.

Second, that the Republican record in congress and the individuals who have messed up the legislative program should not lead the party here or guide its councils, but should be in the background while the Coolidge management proclaims the party purposes and policies.

Third, that the Republican platform shall be in accordance with what Mr. Coolidge wants it to be on all controversial questions, including the soldiers bonus, the world court and agricultural problems.

Taking up these points in order, one finds that the movement, which originated in Wisconsin to have the convention here, adopt resolutions pledging all the delegates in advance to support whoever is nominated will not be followed through for the simple reason that to have such a battle with the LaFollette group means the proposal on their part of a substitute resolution asking the party to repudiate Albert E. Fall and Henry M. Daugherty, would lead to an open breach in which the radicals would embarrass the convention as a whole and give the Wisconsin group the excuse they are aching for to desert the Republican party in favor of an independent ticket.

Instead, the regulars from Wisconsin believe it is far more satisfactory from the viewpoint of party strategy to let the LaFollette delegates sit throughout the Republican convention as Republicans so that the impulse in bolting will come from that side rather than the majority.

The regulars recognize the LaFollette insurgency as inevitable and as irreconcilable. They will do nothing to placate it. On the other hand, there is a growing desire to treat it with defiance and boldly proclaim conservatism as a virtue. Such a note would unquestionably strike an enthusiastic response in this convention which already regards party infidelity with contempt. There is also the feeling that since Senator LaFollette has made up his mind to run, nothing would be gained by giving his followers an exaggerated importance in the convention which from a publicity viewpoint might be to their advantage later on.

As for the "Old Guard" and congress, the Coolidge leaders are playing for a public impression of independence. They want the people who are resentful of congressional inefficiency to realize that the party as a whole has no sympathy with it and under the circumstances the effort to make the platform accord with the president's speeches and addresses to congress is proceeding smoothly and without interference by the congressional leaders many of whom are astute enough politicians to appreciate that perhaps with the unpopularity of congress the strategy of the Coolidge managers may not be unwise after all.

On the world court, the Coolidge-Hughes idea of American membership in the world court created by the League of Nations will prevail.

Suspect Jap Savant Plans Bombing Plot

By Associated Press
New York.—Dr. Asamu Terada, Japanese physician and explosive expert whose apartment was raided Monday night by police who said they found formula and diagrams for making high explosives, Tuesday was being held in $2,500 bail on charge of possessing a revolver in violation of the Sullivan law, a statute forbidding possession of concealed weapons.

Terada, who said he was a graduate from a medical college in Osaka and studied at the Johns Hopkins medical college, denied that the formulas and diagrams were for construction of bombs. They had been written down in 1916 he said, and had no relation whatever to the Japanese exclusion act. He explained that since he was interested in explosives he naturally engaged at times in making formulae. He was arrested as a result of an anonymous letter received by the police two weeks ago. Neighbors informed the police that an unusual number of Japanese were visiting Dr. Terada's apartment. After watching the place for several days the police decided to investigate.

MEDICS SEEK TO CHANGE DRY LAW

American Medical Association Resents Interference in Profession

By Associated Press
Chicago.—The house of delegates of the American Medical association in convention Tuesday adopted a resolution calling for the repeal of "those sections of the national prohibition act which interfere with the proper relation between the physician and his patient in prescribing alcohol medicinally."

"Has the government of the United States the right to question the good faith of the medical profession?" asked Dr. Wendell Phillips of New York, in the course of discussion of the resolution. The measure as adopted, which was introduced Monday by Dr. Thomas Clark Chalmers of New York, also instructed the board of trustees of the association to use its best endeavors to have such sections repealed and to work to have the commission of internal revenue and the prohibition commissioner to issue revised instructions for the use of alcohol for medicinal purposes by physicians.

Noted Author Commits Suicide In Death House

By Associated Press
San Francisco.—Prompted by mental torment springing from a disease-racked body, Peter Clark MacFarlane, noted author, playwright and lecturer and former minstrel and actor, strolled down a gloomy alleyway to the door of the San Francisco mortuary at 520 Monday night and shot and killed himself. He wrote the last chapter of his life with a tragic and dramatic flourish. Sunday he recounted the story of his gradual breakdown from a kidney malady, his mental exhaustion and his desire for freedom from "that incompetency which now threatens." In two long letters addressed to close personal friends, Dr. Rufus L. Rignold, his physician, and Byron MacDonald, a brother-in-law, he wrote: "Perhaps there is a new sphere of activities and a new and initial set of duties awaiting me."

Of the past he said: "The world has been good to me. It has given two wonderful women for wives and the last of these, Florence, has not only been faithful as a comrade and sympathetic counselor of courage through my battle with disease, but has been the wife and devoted and loving mother of four children of my first wife."

BADGERS NAME BLAINE HEAD OF DELEGATES

North Dakota Delegates Are Guests at Caucus of Wisconsin Group

BY LEO V. GANNON
Staff Correspondent
Cleveland.—Governor John J. Blaine was elected chairman of the Wisconsin delegation to the national Republican convention at caucus Monday evening.

Alfred T. Rogers declined reelection to the office of national committeeman, and Ira Lorenz, Milwaukee, was elected to that office. T. S. Scott, the only Coolidge delegate in the Badger group, was chosen to notify the president of his nomination. Henry A. Cooper, Racine, was elected chairman of the resolutions committee; Mrs. Mollie Widdell, Superior secretary; George Affeldt, West Allis, chairman of the credentials committee; and Mrs. Julia Anderson Schmetz, Racine, reelected national committee woman.

The Badgers in caucus had as their guests several delegates from North Dakota who had words of praise for the senior senator from Wisconsin, declaring that had he been a candidate in that state he would have swept the field.

Congressmen George J. Schneider, and Edward Volgt, called upon by the chairman, spoke on the accomplishments of the progressives and scored the present administration which for reason they declared had never been equalled.

Governor Blaine will make the fight for the LaFollette platform in the convention, and on Wednesday will introduce the resolutions previously announced as a minority report, for the purpose of emphasizing the Wisconsin demands.

The only parade of the convention was that of the naval reservists arriving here in a fleet of nine vessels Monday. Included in the line up were the fifteen men from Green Bay and their officers. The boys were granted their first shore leave Monday evening and will remain here until Thursday.

FOX IMPROVEMENT BILL IS UNPASSED

BY LEO V. GANNON
Staff Correspondent
Cleveland, O.—Congressman George J. Schneider, arriving here for the national Republican convention, announced that the request for a re-survey of the outer Green Bay harbor, and of the Oconto harbor, and the recommendations of the engineers for the improvement of the channel between Green Bay and De Pere, and other improvements on the Fox river, were included in the Rivers and Harbors Omnibus bill in the reprint, and the entire bill laid over when congress adjourned. The fact that these improvements are included in the general bill at this time will advance them about five years.

Dr. Chalmers said the measure was introduced Monday by Dr. Thomas Clark Chalmers of New York, also instructed the board of trustees of the association to use its best endeavors to have such sections repealed and to work to have the commission of internal revenue and the prohibition commissioner to issue revised instructions for the use of alcohol for medicinal purposes by physicians.

Charges Husband Was Cruel to Her

Judge Beginger of Oshkosh Opens Zachachner Divorce Case
Divorce proceedings of Mrs. Hattie Zachachner vs. William Zachachner were in progress Tuesday morning in the circuit court chambers before Judge Fred Beginger of Oshkosh. The case was transferred by Judge Edgar V. Werner to the Oshkosh Judge last winter upon the motion of the defendant's attorneys, Mark Catlin and C. E. Behnke.

Mrs. Zachachner started suit last December through her attorney A. H. Krausner alleging as grounds cruel and inhuman treatment and asking for the custody of three minor children. An order directing the defendant to pay the plaintiff temporary alimony of $40 a month was issued by Judge Werner and the same order was made by Judge Beginger when the case was transferred to him. The defendant requested a modification of the order maintaining that his income and the payment of debts would not permit such an expenditure.

WUNDROW LIQUOR CASE IS BEGUN IN COURT

The case of August Wundrow, Buchanan farmer charged with manufacture and possession of moonshine, was scheduled to be heard in municipal court Tuesday morning, but was postponed until Tuesday afternoon. The raid at the Wundrow farm was one of a series conducted by state prohibition officers and county authorities a few weeks ago.

Oratory May Win Butler Nomination In Conclave

BOB DECLINES TO ENTER RACE BUT URGES HARD FIGHT

Wisconsin Senator Reminds Followers They Represent Mass of People

Washington, D. C.—Senator LaFollette Monday night, on the eve of the Republican national convention threw down a fighting challenge to the party gathering at Cleveland, and told his supporters they represented the "mass of the common people of the country." He specifically instructed the Wisconsin delegation to refrain from placing him in nomination as a presidential candidate, but urged a war without quarter for its "platform of progressive principles."

The Wisconsin senator addressed his communication to John J. Blaine, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation at Cleveland, who was asked to present it to the individual delegates.

"You are aware of course," he said "that while the voters of Wisconsin have done me the honor of electing delegates who have cast their votes for me as candidate for the Republican nomination for president over four years since 1908, I have not, in fact been a candidate since that, and my name has not since that year been formally presented to a Republican national convention."

"Although my name was not filed in presidential primaries in Wisconsin or elsewhere, nevertheless the voters of Wisconsin in the recent primaries instructed 28 of the 29 delegates to cast their votes for me in the nomination of a candidate for President one delegate to pledge to President Coolidge."

"It is my express wish that in the Republican national convention assembling June 10, my name be not placed in nomination. I request further that the Progressive delegates elected by the people of Wisconsin concentrate all their energies upon obtaining the adoption of the platform of Progressive principles, which received an overwhelming endorsement in the April primary."

Butler Is Reserved

William M. Butler is almost as silent as his hero, Calvin Coolidge. In talking with Fred Upham the national treasurer, Butler speaking of his own reticence, said: "Compared to me, Calvin Coolidge is a chatterbox." This means that Mr. Butler has been slow to make pledges and promises. There have been no appointments promised, no cabinet portfolios distributed, no commitments of any kind. The old line leaders look askance and wonder how the money for the campaign is going to be raised if the individual leaders aren't given a little more leeway and they hope that politically speaking, the Coolidge management will loosen up before autumn comes.

But Mr. Butler is no novice. He learned his politics at the elbow of former Senator Murray Crane of Massachusetts, a skillful master of political strategy. He has converted the Republican convention into something less cumbersome than it was in 1920. It is more cohesive. It is the kind of convention that acts to be led and controlled. It wants the vice presidential candidate selected in advance, but Mr. Butler is wisely refraining from an insistence on any one candidate. To the talk of Major General Harbord, Representative Burton of Ohio or Senator Campbell of Kansas, he has not yet uttered a word. He would like to see the convention listen to the speeches of nomination and make up its mind on the floor. Frank Lowden's refusal to accept even if tendered has been a disappointment but he is looking to 1928. So, no doubt, is Herbert Hoover. Mr. Burton of Michigan who nominates Mr. Coolidge is said to be a spellbinder. He may win the vice presidential nomination by oratory. "Stranger things have happened."

Bay State Politician Wields Power to Select Vice President and Make Platform of G. O. P.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1924 by the Post Pub. Co.
Cleveland, O.—William M. Butler of Massachusetts,—that's all. He is the new dictator of the Republican party. He is the man whose word is law with the assembled delegates. He is the man who dethroned Senator Henry Cabot Lodge. He speaks for Calvin Coolidge—"a n d though he speaks but little he wields today the power to select a vice president and to make the platform of the party."

Mr. Butler has seen the pre-convention manager. For six months he has been actively gathering delegates, picking them carefully and winning the regular state organizations to his side. He will be the next chairman of the Republican national committee and the manager of the Coolidge campaign for election.

COOLIDGE RULES
Here the senatorial club has no power, no prominence. Calvin Coolidge rules. The all-important resolutions committee which frames a platform has none of Mr. Coolidge's opponents from the senate and house on it. There will be no quarrels, no fights. Mr. Coolidge has assumed the leadership. His position rather than that of the men who voted to override his vetoes will be supported. His proposals for a world court, his program of legislative reform will be embodied in the platform. And while he is not trying to pick a vice president, whoever is selected will be in harmony with his views.

When comes the development of Coolidge power? It isn't sudden. It is the result of ten months of intense campaigning by William M. Butler and his associates. They captured the west and middle west by a simple appeal to the conservative business interests of the country. The delegates here are businessmen largely.

There are few of the so-called radical types. And the delegates seem to have faith in Calvin Coolidge, faith that in him lies the opportunity for a business revival and a steady course for the ship of state.

Butler is reserved. William M. Butler is almost as silent as his hero, Calvin Coolidge. In talking with Fred Upham the national treasurer, Butler speaking of his own reticence, said: "Compared to me, Calvin Coolidge is a chatterbox."

Vice President Choice Still Undecided When Adams Calls To Order

Ripple of Applause Greeted Congressman Burton in Delivery of Address

BACKS LAW ENFORCEMENT
Demand of Badgers for Declaration of Mellon Tax Brings Call for Cut

By Associated Press
Cleveland, Ohio.—Congressman T. E. Burton was greeted with a ripple of applause in his keynote address when he declared: "We are for law enforcement now and always." Again storms of acclamation broke forth at the declaration for conservation of natural resources with no 100-year franchises. The demand of the Wisconsin delegation in favor of the Mellon tax bill was met with a general declaration against high surtaxes and a call for reductions.

When the speaker, referring to the Teapot Dome hearings, declared that one purpose of the law was to protect the innocent and that it was a crime to broadcast the mouthings of criminals, applause again rocked the hall.

"The people—and all the people—have confidence in Calvin Coolidge," Representative Burton declared in sounding the keynote of the convention. "In the great array of rulers, kings, and prime ministers intrusted with power, there is none who can surpass him in honesty of purpose, in courage, or in high devotion to the welfare of his country."

Mr. Burton asserted that by far the greater share of our citizenship looks to President Coolidge rather than to congress for leadership, and he urged the party to take its stand with Mr. Coolidge on all controversial issues which have arisen between the executive and some members of the Republican majority in congress. He recommended that the party declare for American adherence to the world court with merely the Harding-Hughes reservations. He regretted that congress refused to accede to Mr. Coolidge's wishes in enacting the Japanese exclusion provision of the immigration bill. He declared the new tax law abundant in defects and should not be taken as the last word in tax revision. He disclaimed enactment of the bonus bill over the president's veto with the assertion that "conditions created by it must be met and its provisions must be willingly accepted."

Much of the blame visited upon the Republicans in the session of congress just ended, he told the convention, however, "is not deserved, because on many major questions their party has not commanded a majority in either branch."

Enumerating the achievements of the Republican party in its stewardship of national affairs in the past four years, he paid high tribute to the memory of President Harding, telling of the accomplishments under his leadership, and pronounced this benediction: "Rest, weary spirit, rest in peace, secure in the lasting remembrance which belongs to the immortal."

Two arrests by John Frenz, motorcycle officer, and one by Officer William Bogan Monday, resulted in fines by Judge A. M. Spencer Tuesday on charges of speeding and other traffic violations.

Otto Ralmer of Green Bay, arrested at Little Chute by Officer Frenz, was charged with speeding at the rate of 48 miles an hour. Forty miles an hour was the speed attained by E. R. Nickle of Fond du Lac who was arrested by Officer Bogan in Vandenberg.

Republicans Meet to Choose Candidates and Build Platform

LOCKWOOD READS CALL
Representative Burton of Ohio Is Proposed As Temporary Chairman

By Associated Press
Convention Hall, Cleveland.—Still searching for a vice presidential candidate, the Republican national convention went into its first session Tuesday with the question little advanced toward solution. Booms paused for a moment in their flight, platform builders suspended their work and delegates ceased their milling while all assembled in the great hall with its thirteen thousand seats to start the convention off on its way.

Chairman Adams of the national committee brought the gavel down promptly at 11 o'clock and routine organization work was quickly disposed of. Full delegations on the floor and galleries were well filled but not crowded and followed closely, the speech of the chairman which sounded the keynote of the coming campaign.

Overnight the movement for Judge William S. Kenyon of Iowa showed new strength; the talk for Secretary Hughes grew stronger; the movement for Charles G. Dawes certainly lost no ground; and the Lowden supporters, though they stubbornly resisted the former governor's nomination, determination not to accept, the nomination itself were offered.

MANY NEW FACES
Many new faces appeared in the old familiar places here in the main oratorical arena. For the first time, in years, Chancery M. Dewey was not on hand to enjoy a reception that has always resembled a New Year's day handshaking bee at the White House. For the first time since a Republican convention nominated Abraham Lincoln, "Uncle" Joe Cannon was absent and the convention missed "The Ladies, God Bless Them." Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was not in the little circle of convention managers, the inconspicuous "steering committee" that has so much to say of what will be done.

In their places of power Tuesday were a new set of men chosen by President Coolidge and headed by William M. Butler. The doors of the great hall were thrown open to ticket holders at 9 o'clock, but the delegates did not begin arriving until the clock moved toward eleven, the hour of meeting.

WORK QUICKLY
The platform committee was prepared to work as quickly as possible, hear sponsors of various planks for five hours, and then start what may be an all night session to whip the declaration of principles into shape for presentation to the convention by Wednesday afternoon. A tentative plan which will form the basis of its work was completed early Tuesday by a group of the committee members after tolling most of the night and exchanging views frequently with Washington.

With reference to tax reduction, the platform, it was stated authoritatively, will make no specific reference to the Mellon plan, but will contain a broad declaration for tax revision and reforms. The world court plank was described as a straightforward declaration of American adherence to the court of international justice with specific recommendations as to the form of adherence. The soldier bonus has been treated by the platform builders as an accomplished fact.

There will be a provision, however, as to the treatment of the sick and disabled veterans of the World War. Another of the suggested planks which was rewritten was that dealing in wrong-doing in public office. As now drawn, this provision makes no mention of individuals but declares for punishment where guilt is clearly established.

The national defense plank would declare for the military training for all citizens who wish to be trained and deals specifically with the civilian military training camps and the Officers' Reserve Corps. For the first time it would declare for the building up and maintenance of a sea force to the full strength permitted by the United States under the Washington treaty.

Temporary Chairman Burton visited the platform and conferred briefly with Chairman Adams of the national committee. Other delegates make no mention of individuals but declare for punishment where guilt is clearly established.

G. O. P. LEADERS IN CONVENTION IGNORE BADGERS

Refuse to Make Bid for Support of Wisconsin Delegation

Press passed but will content itself with a general declaration of satisfaction over what the Republican party has done for the veterans of the World war, especially the disabled men, and there probably will be an expression of gratitude about the veterans generally so as to offset some of the criticism leveled at the president in his recent veto message on the bonus when he said in effect that the government owed the soldiers and sailors nothing for their services in the war.

On agricultural questions, no specific measure will be advocated but a principle of helpfulness will be enunciated.

The platform has been drafted—its first draft was made in Washington. Congressional leaders who have been consulted about it and cabinet members who have read it speak of it as a rather lengthy document but then platforms have to be now-a-days to encompass all the subjects which must be included to satisfy the various elements in the electorate, including the women voters.

When the platform is finished it will be described by its proponents as liberal and progressive without any note of impractical radicalism. It will contain no startling pronouncements but will simply be a reiteration of Coolidge doctrines as he heretofore expounded.

The vice presidential question is truly up to the delegates themselves. The choice will be made on the floor after the nominating speeches are made and it would not be surprising to see a number of complimentary votes given to various Republicans in order to feel out the sentiment of the convention. The Illinois delegation has voted to petition former Governor Lowden to reconsider his refusal to run. The plan has been for Illinois to place his name in nomination first with Alabama following on the roll call—yielding to Illinois for the purpose. But Mr. Lowden's emphatic declaration over the telephone that he could not accept even if named has upset the plans of the Illinois delegation. Several states have been ready to join the movement to draft Lowden and it is inconceivable that any man would actually refuse to accept if the nomination came unannounced. Mr. Lowden may not yet be drafted but his threat to decline is preventing a settlement of the vice presidential situation in advance of the balloting. Next to Lowden, no man has any particular strength. Sentiment has failed to crystallize on any second choice and the leaders here would like to have President Coolidge pick a man. But his managers refuse to do so and want the convention to take the initiative though in the last analysis a word from William M. Butler, the Coolidge chief, will probably avoid a prolonged contest and throw enough votes to a particular candidate to end the contest whenever it is desired for the administration to do so.

Four Groups Compete In Field Day

Program at Congregational Outing Saturday Will Begin at 2:30

Keen rivalry will feature the field day of the First Congregational church and Sunday school at Pierce park Saturday. The picnicers will be divided into four divisions and each group will place participants in each of the contests which are part of the amusement program.

The divisions will be supplied with colored badges so they may be distinguished from one another. There will be baseball games, races, freak contests and other diversions and a prize is to be given the winner of each contest.

Events of the field day are to start at 2:30 instead of 2 o'clock as previously announced. The hour was changed so housewives would have more time to complete their home duties before starting for the park. Basket supper will be the only meal served at the park, and a committee of women will serve hot coffee to all who take cups.

H. L. Dawson is general chairman of the field day, and the events will be conducted by George H. Pruehard as marshal. There will be four captains to take charge of the divisions.

Several hundred tickets were issued at Sunday school, Sunday to the children of the parish for free refreshments at the stand. All youngsters who desire to try for prizes in the field day events, are to register their names at the church between 10 and 12 o'clock Thursday morning.

Trades Council Meeting

A regular meeting of the Appleton Trades and Labor council will be held on Wednesday evening in the council's room in the Woolworth-bldg. Routine business will be transacted.

PRIEST IN CAR HIT BY TRAIN AT NEENAH

The Rev. Basil Gummerman, pastor of St. Joseph church, and Louis Koltisch, driver of a closed car in which they were riding, narrowly escaped serious injury when their car was struck by a passenger train at the Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing, near the depot, at Neenah, Monday afternoon. The automobile's engine stalled just as the front of the car reached the track. Koltisch was able to get out of the car, but Father Basil was just stopping out when the train brushed the machine, pushing it off the track. Father Basil received a few bruises but no injuries of a consequential nature.

Says Piles Heal Up and Disappear Forever

Seldom Falls To Give Absolute Relief From All Pain and Suffering. Guaranteed by Schlitz Bros. Co., and Volz's Drug Store and All Good Druggists.

Many sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to directions will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained. MOAVA is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and any sufferer from piles or Hemorrhoids who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded. adv.

PIG CLUB MEMBERS GET INSTRUCTIONS FOR PIG RAISING

Outagamie-co Youngsters All Set for Raising Porks for Market

Members of the boy and girl pig clubs of Outagamie-co now are in possession with all the necessary equipment and instructions for raising pigs for the fall market.

R. A. Amundson, county agricultural agent, has sent each member a book of general instructions pertaining to the work he has signed up for, a series of lessons dealing more specifically with the work as the pig grows to maturity, and a monthly account book in which members keep a record of the growth and condition of the pig, the amount of rations fed, and the hours of labor spent in raising it. Club presidents have been supplied with leaders' hand books to enable them to conduct a meeting and lead a club.

The pig club project consists of owning and raising one or two pigs on grain, buttermilk or skim milk, and other feed for fall marketing. Pigs may be obtained from the father's herd or may be purchased with money borrowed from the bank on which the child signs a note indorsed by his father and pays it from the proceeds of the sale of the pig at the fall market.

OFFER PRIZES

The basis of award on which recognition will be made is as follows: Best pig with respect to purpose, 40 per cent; economic cost of production, 30 per cent; business management, 15 per cent; record and story, 15 per cent. An honor pin will be awarded to the ten best pig raisers in the state in recognition of their work. Each member also receives a membership button.

Each member is taught the essentials of farm accounting by keeping a careful record from month to month of the progress of the work. There are entries of dates when the pig was weighed and how much it weighed, and the gain in weight since the previous weighing. There are entries for the daily rations, the kind of feed, the amount in pounds of each, and the

Three Sets Of Twins In Year's Diploma Class

While visitors, at the commencement exercises of Outagamie-co rural schools in Lawrence Memorial chapel were congratulating the boys and girls as they were awarded their diplomas by A. G. Meating, county superintendent, they probably were not aware that six of the graduates were twins. The oversight may have resulted from the fact that in only one case were the members of a pair both of the same sex.

Albert and Alfred Goske graduated from the Stephenville school where Al VanStraten was teacher last year. They were born on Nov. 4, 1909. Another pair of twins finished at Isaac school, of which Miss Edna Snell was principal. They are Florence and Lawrence Kroner, who were born Oct. 2, 1909. The third pair is Norma and Norman Gregorius of Hillman school, Black Creek, taught by Miss Gladys Hillis. They were born July 11, 1910.

Program in Church

A program of recitations and songs was given by the children of St. John Evangelical church in the church Sunday night when children's day was observed. The Rev. W. R. Wetzel, pastor, spoke briefly. The church was beautifully decorated with flowers.

price. Record is also kept of the health of the pig. A summary sheet, telling the profit or loss realized in raising it. Each child competing for honors also is required to tell a story of the pig answering such questions as why he is a pig club member, how he got his pig, what he named it, why he selected the name, why he selected the breed, if the pig has become a pet, why pastures and green crops are important in pig raising, why well bred pigs are better than scrubs and what he has learned about pigs by the experiment.

The members organize in clubs, elect officers, hold regular meetings, and report on the progress of pig raising. The handbook instructs the club president on how to conduct the meetings and what is to be accomplished in club work.

FARMERS IMPRESSED BY KELLEY'S SHOW

"Fun on the Farm" Committee Will Report at Meeting Next Monday

A committee of six men of Outagamie-co went to Baraboo Saturday to attend the opening of the tour of John M. Kelley's circus, "Fun on the Farm," which will be shown in Appleton on July 18. The committee was appointed by a conference of farm organizations of the county and consisted of George Jamison, George Schaefer, W. D. Krickeberg, Charles Gode, E. H. Kirklin and Robert A. Amundson, county agent. The visitors were impressed by the showing and will make a report of their investigation of the necessary arrangements for the circus at another meeting of farm organizations to be held in the courthouse next Monday evening.

SLIGHT ACCIDENT ON NEW ROLLER COASTER

A defective pin in one of the wheels of the new "Figure Eight" amusement apparatus at Waverly Beach was responsible for the collision of two roller coasters Sunday. The accident was not serious, however.

Probably hardened to too great a degree, the pin broke and caused the wheel to wobble. The car was on the home stretch and stopped just before another grade, when another car crashed into it from the rear. There were four occupants in each of the two cars, but the only one injured was Emil Rutch of Appleton, who suffered a scratch on the leg between the knee and ankle. A half hour later the Figure Eight was again in operation. It was closed later to allow a thorough inspection, and is again in operation.

CONGRESS AND LAWMAKING
When we talk of law observance and law enforcement, we too often fail to think back to the source of legislation.
We have too many laws that cannot be observed and cannot be enforced, and many observable and enforceable laws
which contain impractical provisions.
These objectionable laws and provisions were simply political molasses. The chief cause then of one of our most serious problems and troubles, is congress. This is a logical deduction. But who select and elect the senators and representatives? The voters. So, the blame for these ills lies with the people themselves.
Only half of them vote in elections and less than half in the primaries.

The oldest member of congress, Isaac R. Sherwood, Democrat, of Ohio, who will celebrate his eighty-ninth birthday on August 13, has been in the house long enough to speak as an authority. He has been in congress at its best and at its worst.

"What congress does need," he says,
"is the intelligent interest of the electorate in primary elections, and fewer members and rules." And he says further:
"Now there are so many members of congress that we must bind up congress with rules it would take any young man ten years to learn." And further, "Now about fifteen men run the whole congress," and "congress is not a representative body any longer, and it has no leaders." His final comment on the indifference of voters, only thirty per cent of whom vote in primaries.

Why do fifteen men rule congress?
One reason is that the house is so large and cumbersome no progress could be made if all insisted on talking, legislating and otherwise working. The principal reason is, however, that most members are willing to shirk responsibility.
When their constituents urge or complain, they declare that they can do nothing, as the clique controls. Too many rules are explainable in the same way. The majority is willing to let a powerful minority decide and dominate.

After all, however, we must not be too severe with congress. It is impossible to have representative government or good government with only thirty per cent of the eligible citizens voting at primaries and approximately half at elections. It is a fact that voters procure the kind and character of government which they deserve to have. Political combinations can and do easily control primaries and elections with the majority of citizens neglecting to vote. Government is not representative of the people; it is representative of professional politicians. Citizens who do not vote are chargeable with the faults and failures of government. Government cannot be representative of the people unless the people elect candidates.

GERMANS ON DAWES REPORT

The comment of the German press on the Dawes report translated for the Living Age of recent date in large part conveys the impression that the more responsible Germans perceive that it is unwise,
if not impossible, wholly to reject the findings of an international body of experts including a famed American general. It is true that the Deutsche Zeitung, chauvinist organ, exclaims, "Why should we bother with the thing, for it is utterly impossible," and the Deutsche Tageszeitung, organ of the nationalist party, declares that the experts "place economic obligations on Germany that are for the most part absolutely insane," but there are other prominent German editors far less pronounced in their complaint. For example, the Prager Tagesblatt, representing the Bohemian Germans, characterizes the report as "a stern judgment,"

and regards the financial obligations placed on Germany as unduly heavy, but concludes that on the whole "the findings are very sensible and at times courageous—severe, but with the severity of truth and justice."

Even the nationalist press in some instances shows a disposition to accept what seems to be regarded as the inevitable, including Der Tag, conservative, and the Proussische Kreutzeitung, the latter suggesting that "a blunt rejection, in view of the situation, is not unqualifiedly necessary," a waiting attitude being "preferable in order that Germany may not incur the reproach of being utterly intractable." From the Living Age's excerpts it would appear that, though the Dawes report may not have actually achieved a final settlement, it has, even in the German view, brought it much nearer.

CAN YOU BLAME HIM?

Congress must be far worse than outsiders think it is when certain senators and representatives deliberately express their disgust with it. Now comes Representative Henry L. Jost of Missouri, who says in a public statement that he does not regard it as an honor to be a member of congress and it is impossible to serve his country with the majority of his colleagues ignoring their patriotic duty
and catering to selfish, greedy constituents.

Representative Jost took the measure of congress' intelligence and integrity in a hurry, perhaps in too great haste. In thirty days he found out to his own satisfaction that membership could not improve his self-respect, and he began to regret being elected to a position that he had thought was one of trust and dignity. He decided he would not waste his time and effort to be renominated, but would relinquish his seat to a fellow citizen having more patience and hopefulness.

"With congress," he states, "in the grip of groups and blocs, which legislate and tax solely from considerations of expediency rather than from principle, and with socialism in the ascendancy. I do not care to continue and sustain the attendant loss of companionship with my family and home friends as well, which result from further inattention to my professional work."

We do not know how Mr. Jost stands with his constituents, or what his record is, but most citizens will agree with his assertion that "people will finally realize that prosperity depends upon something else than legislative fiat, and that nothing but harm can come from any law passed to favor a certain and special class." This doctrine at least is sound, and congress is controlled by the direct opposite of it.

Congress does not inspire the people
with an idea that it has an over-abundant regard for principle or that it is even shrewd politically. Possibly Mr. Jost is right in his contention that it sacrifices every reputable consideration to personal and selfish ends. There are capable and reliable men in the senate and the house, yet, judging by the sayings and doings of the majority it must be admitted that it follows the theory of "political expediency"
and pays small attention to principle.

Much as we may sympathize with Mr.
Jost's personal feelings and his point of view, nevertheless it is a wrong attitude
if we are to have improvement in the personnel of our law-making bodies and in the service they render. If men of courage and conviction will not consent to sit in congress, or to even run for that office, how are we to elevate the level of its membership in capacity and integrity?

In Los Angeles they will make a sanity test of auto speeders and if the results differ from what you expect we will let you know.

They raised a kick about the shells a famous dancer wore in New York, claiming she shall-shocked the reformers.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

BRONCHORRHEA
This is not a new disease I'm going to exhibit.
Old Doctor Webster, who is generally pretty accurate except when he tries to define somersaults and colds, tells us that bronchorrhea is an excessive flow of mucus from the bronchi. When chronic bronchitis is associated with such a condition there is often, not always, some ballooning or dilation of the bronchi, and that is called bronchorrhea. The expectoration of large amounts of sputum, especially upon change of posture, is a common occurrence in bronchorrhea. Certain special remedial measures are used in cases of bronchorrhea, such as posture treatment as recently described here, removal to a dry warm climate where the patient will not be afraid to take the air every day in the year,
certain inhalations of medicated steam or vapor,
belly exercise, autogenous (self furnished) bacterins (more familiarly called bacterial vaccines).

We discussed the climate in another recent talk on bronchitis and concluded, that with all due consideration for the members of Commerce, booster societies, and those who run sanitariums, our own climate here at home, wherever we live, is equal to the best in the temperate zone provided one is not obsessed by the weatherphobia and will go out to take the air 365 days in the year.

Today we continue with postural treatment. When there is bronchorrhea, whether associated with bronchitis or not, it is an excellent plan for the subject of chronic bronchitis to get into the habit of sleeping on an inclined plane with the lower or caudal pole of the body higher than the upper or cephalic pole.
To do this, raise the foot of the bed on blocks not over three inches high at first, better only an inch or two high, and then at intervals of a week or longer raise the foot of the bed an inch higher until eventually you find it comfortable enough to sleep
all right with your caudal or tail end raised six inches above the level of your cephalic or head end.
This is exceedingly advantageous, for it brings the force of gravity to the aid of drainage and so helps to undo some of the harm gravity has been doing all day if you are up and about the daytime.
Right here is a good place for a little monkey business. Anybody remember that I am a great believer in and advocate of the somersault habit as a part of a daily health regimen? Well, anyway, I roll my own pretty regularly, forward and backward, because I believe they are good medicine.
They help to keep a feller from becoming dignified, and dignity is a great strain on the arteries. Somersaults are fine medicine for persons with chronic bronchitis, bronchorrhea or bronchorrhea, but in such cases instead of just rolling a dozen or two at morning it would be better to roll two or three about six times a day. I hope I am not too serious about this, but believe me, I am sincere when I say that for some subjects of chronic bronchitis these seemingly absurd postural maneuvers are just as good medicine as expectorants and climate. In another talk we will consider the purpose, methods and value of belly exercise in chronic bronchitis, bronchorrhea and bronchorrhea.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Focal Infection
Please suggest what to use for the throat, nose, gum, tooth, sinus or tonsil infection which you spoke of as causes of joint inflammation and heart
valve disease. (H. E. W.)
Answer.—Dentists, doctors, specialists, surgeons, hygienists, etc. There is no specific remedy or method to deal with such infection.

Chapped Lips
Will you please tell me something good for chapped lips? My work is out of doors, and when the sun is strong my lower lip gets chapped and seldom heals all summer. Have used vaseline; camphor and cold cream without relief. (S. M. W.)
Answer.—For ordinary chapping brush the lips lightly three or four times a day with a mixture of equal parts of tincture of benzoin and glycerin. The condition you describe is not ordinary chapping, but perhaps an inflammation of the lip from a kind of sunburn, and that calls for an application which fairly well excludes sunlight, such as zinc oxide ointment. This white ointment may be colored to resemble rouge if desired.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Tuesday, June 13, 1899.
William Nelson of Manitowoc, formerly of Appleton, called on friends here.
Miss Minnie Petersen, who had been teaching school in Antigo, returned home.
Attorney Moses Hooper of Oshkosh was an Appleton business visitor.
Prof. Olin Meado, who had been teaching in Chad-dock College at Quincy, Ill., returned home where he was to spend his vacation.
Mrs. E. J. Stansbury and son Dan departed for Chippewa Falls, where they were to visit relatives
for a month.
Misses Angeline and Genevieve Jabas returned from Colorado, where they spent the winter.
Miss Ida Graham left for Evanston, where she was to be the guest of her sister, Mrs. Woodward.
Dr. John Faville and family of Peoria, Ill., were to spend portion of Dr. Faville's vacation with Appleton friends.
E. H. Schley, receiver of the properties of the Manufacturing Investment company with plants in Appleton and Madison, Me., announced the properties would be sold at New York on June 23.
The new officers of the Clio club were Miss Ida Graham, president; Mrs. M. K. Gochmauer, vice president; Mrs. G. A. Ritchie, secretary; and Mrs. F. W.
Harriman, treasurer.
James Morrow, grocer, purchased 20,000 pounds of granulated sugar before the price advanced.

TEN YEARS AGO
Tuesday, June 9, 1914.
Albert Shimbarg of Kaukauna called on Appleton
friends.
Mrs. Charles Weinfeldt of Wauau was being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ul-man.
Dr. and Mrs. B. F. Raymond of Middleton, Conn., arrived in Appleton to spend commencement week
program of Lawrence college.
Application was made to the county clerk for marriage licenses by Carl Albrecht and Emma Dietz-ler of Hortonville; and John F. Rohm, Jr., and Cara Hildebrandt of Kaukauna.
Miss Eunice R. Brooks, daughter of Mrs. Mary Horr, 347 North-st., and Walter H. Wingrove were married at the home of the bride.
Bids for the proposed new water tower in Appleton were to be opened at the city hall the following morning.
Twenty members of the Elk lodge left for Wausau to attend the state convention.
The level of water in Fox river was the highest ever known during the month of June.
Only 222 dog licenses had been issued and more than 200 more dogs were in danger of losing their lives.
Farmers of the county were fearful the heat might work even greater damage to crops than the heavy rains of the previous 10 days.

SEEN, HEARD
and IMAGINED
---that's all
there is
to life

THE LAPLANDER
A maid entered a suburban bus,
And finally grasped a strap.
And every time they hit a hole,
She sat in a different lap.
The holes grew deeper, the jerking
worse,
Till at last she gasped with a smile,
"Will some one kindly tell me, please,
How many laps to a mile?"
An Appleton girl had been thinking so much about getting her hair
bobbed that she arose from her bed
in her sleep and clipped her tresses, according to reports. Best alibi yet to hand friend husband.

The whole city of Appleton is soon to have its annual bath in oil. Street department wagons will spread oodles
and oodles of it to provoke the drivers. Wonder if the oil investigators are busy here yet.

THE P-C says Charles Rogers is building a "new and modern" barn on his Brickyard-rd farm. We suppose that means that the cows will have a sun parlor, hot and cold running water, bath, and sleeping porch.

INTELLIGENCE TESTS
Here are the Final Intelligence
Tests for all students of this column,
arranged by Tom Edison and Hap Hooligan of Nut County, Upper Wisconsin. Mark yourself 20 for every question you think you answer correctly. If you fail to answer any of them, step off High Cliff, or else
buy yourself a ticket for Oshkosh.
I. Who discovered the process of fishing with a worm and hook?
II. Name another use of the candelion. A.—Discuss the effects of prohibition in relation to "hops."
both kinds of hops.
III. Interpret the quotation, "She is the canary's harp."
IV. For what famous combination is the world indebted to the Eskimo.
(A. "D. S." degree, cum laude, will be presented to those who send in the correct answers to this one.)
V. Discuss briefly the advisability of equipping all the horses with roller skates as a possible solution to the problem of downtown traffic congestion.

VI. Who is Rollo? Is he one of the "lost" tribe? If so, omit this question.
NOTE: Answer the first five.
---HAP

Speaking of worms, what would you suggest as the means of murdering the man who is going fishing with you and asks you the question:
"Have you got worms?"
Permit us to tell you how the fishing craze had its origin. Once upon a time there was an editor who whenever he was overburdened with work threw his work in a corner and went fishing. MORAL: When serious complications arise, forget all about them by going fishing.

The Tangle

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT CONTINUED

"You have no proof of anything of the sort," answered Jack angrily when I mentioned Sydney Carton as the father of little Jack. "I do wish people would not interfere with my business."

"My dear Jack, you cannot stop people from talking. You know as well as I that you were very glad when I told you I was not leaving the city. You yourself were trying to refute the gossip which you had heard."

"You may not believe it, Jack, but Ruth Ellington is one of the best friends you have, not for your sake particularly, but because she is fond of me. She told me that, however innocent you might be in the matter of taking down the billboard, it would be impossible to make the people think it was for any other reason than that you were angry because the billboard people were advertising Paula Perier."

"Well, I wish you would never mention the matter to me again. I'm sick and tired of it," growled Jack, walking up and down the floor. "I wonder if it isn't possible in this day and age for a man and woman to adopt a baby without someone speculating about its parentage. Forget it, Leslie, forget it!"

"All right, Jack, I will, provided you will give me the money that belongs to Ruth and treat her as though you had forgotten the incident."

"No, I'll do nothing of the kind. I'm waiting for answers to some letters I have written."

"Well, I'll tell you honestly, Jack, if you do not return that money to Ruth before long she will institute action to recover it. It is needed in the business for which it is intended."

Jack got up hastily, jammed his hat upon his head, slammed the door and went out. Our evening was ruined. I called up Ruth and found she had gone out.

Little Marquise. I wonder if all married people have so many misunderstandings—so many times when each one deceives the other more or less. It almost seems to me that I have had something to keep from Jack ever since we were married, something which, although perfectly innocent of itself, would seem terrible to anyone who did not understand. I presume Jack has had the same experiences which he tried to keep from me.

Marriage is more or less of a disappointment—it must be to everyone who enters it. The moment two people who have been deliciously in love and who have been living in a world of sentiment and passion become husband and wife, all the other things of life are suddenly launched upon them. They must work and plan and think and do all that is necessary to live. And Love, being a little jealous god, grows sulky at these interruptions in the worship of his devotees. He then goes away and hides himself, and only once in a while peeks around the corner to let us know what we're missing.

Oh, little Marquise, I sometimes think, although I would hardly dare to say it aloud, that your romance might have been the most satisfactory after all. In fact, it seems to me that romance ends when marriage begins.

Constipation makes bright children dull—give them relief with Kellogg's Bran

Constipation dulls the youthful mind—makes children backward in their studies—makes them listless—and can lead to serious diseases. Constipation is a dangerous disease.

You cannot afford to take chances in getting relief. You cannot afford to experiment or put off. Kellogg's Bran brings relief—permanent relief if eaten regularly. Even in the most chronic cases of constipation it is guaranteed to bring results. If it fails, your grocer will return your money.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, has brought relief to thousands because it is ALL bran. Remember, only ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran is recommended by doctors. It sweeps, cleans and purifies the intestine. It causes regular, healthy, normal action. For it works as nature works. It is ALL bran.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoons daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Eat it with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over other cereals. Cook it with hot cereals. Try it in the wonderful, recipes on every package.

The flavor is delicious—a crisp, nut-like flavor that delights the taste. Different by far from ordinary bran, which are unpalatable.

Begin serving Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, to your children to-day. Eat it yourself. The leading hotels and clubs serve it. Made in Battle Creek. It is sold by all grocers.

The contest offers a prize of $1,000.00 for the Wisconsin city in which the most live, taking into consideration the amount of work done for its welfare—such as education, recreation, industrial conditions, rural relations, fire protection, hospital facilities and others. Appleton's existing advantage ages are found to give it a high score, making the victory within reach with work still to be done.

SO BIG

By Edna Ferber

She wiped her face that was damp and yet cold to the touch. "First—trip in." Suddenly she was finding it absurdly hard to breathe.

He called from the sidewalk to the men within: "George! Ben! Hustle this stuff in. Half of it. The best. Send you a check tomorrow, Mr. DeJong. Picked a bad day, didn't you, for your first day?"

"Hot, you mean?"

"Wa'al, hot, yes. But I mean a holiday like this peddlers mostly ain't buying anything."

"You knew it was a Jew holiday, didn't you? Didn't you, my sakes? Worst day in the year. Jew peddlers all at church to-day and all the others not peddlers bought in Saturday for two days. Chicken men down the street got empty coops and will have till to-morrow. Tesser. Biggest chicken eaters, Jews are, in the world.... Hm.... Better just drive along home and just dump the rest of that stuff, my good woman."

One hand on the seat she prepared to climb up again—did step to the hub. You saw her shabby, absurd side-boots that were so much to big for the slim little feet. "If you're buying my stuff because you're sorry for me..."

"The Peake pride."

"Don't do business that way. Can't afford to, ma'am. My dater she's studying to be a singer. In Italy now. Carline is, and costs like all get-out. Takes all the money I can scrape together, just about."

There was a little colour in Selina's face now. "Italy? Oh, Mr. Talcott. You'd have thought she had seen it from her face. She began to thank him, gravely."

"Now, that's all right. Miss DeJong, I notice your stuff's bunched kind of extra, and all of a size. Fixin' to do that way right along?"

"See, I thought they looked prettier that way—or course vegetables aren't supposed to look pretty. I expect—" she stammered, stopped.

"You fix 'em pretty like that and bring 'em in to me first thing, or send 'em. My trade, they like their stuff kind of special, Tesser."

As she gathered up the reins he stood again in his doorway, cool, remote, his unlighted cigar in his mouth, while hand-trucks rattled past him, barrels and boxes thumped to the sidewalk in front of him, wheels and hoots and shouts made a great clamour all about him.

"We going home now?" demanded Dirk. "We going home now? I'm hungry."

"See, lamb. Two dollars in her pocket. All yesterday's grim toll, and all to-day's, and months of labour behind those two days. Two dollars in the pocket of her black calico petticoat. "We'll get something to eat when we drive out a ways. Some milk and bread and cheese."

The sun was very hot. She took the boy's hat off, passed her tender work-calloused hand over the damp hair that clung to his forehead.

been fun, hasn't it?" she said. "Like an adventure. Look at all the kind people we've met. Mr. Spunknobel, and Mr. Talcott—"

"And Mabel."

"Startled. "And Mabel?"

"She wanted suddenly to kiss him. knew he would hate it with all the boy and all the Holland Dutch in him, and did not."

She made up her mind to drive east and then south. Pervus had sometimes achieved a late sale to outlying grocers. Jan's face if she came home with half the load still on the wagon! And what of the unpaid bills? She had, perhaps, thirty dollars, all told. She owed four hundred. More than that. There were seedlings that Pervus had bought in April to be paid for at the end of the growing season. In the fall. And now fall was here.

Fear shook her. She told herself she was stupid, nervous. That terrible week. And now this. The heat. Soon they'd be home, she and Dirk. How cool and quiet the house would seem. The squares of the kitchen tablecloth. Her own neat bedroom with the black walnut bed and dresser. The sofa in the parlour with the ruffled calico cover. The old chair on the porch with the cane seat sagging where warp and roof had become loosened with much use and stuck out in ragged tufts. It seemed years since she had seen all this. The comfort of it, the peace of it. Safe, desirable, suddenly dear. No work for a woman, this. Well, perhaps they were right.

Down Wabash Avenue, with the L trains thundering overhead and her horses, frightened and uneasy with the unaccustomed roar and clangour of traffic, stepping high and swerving stiffly, grotesque and angular in their movements. A dowdy farm woman and a sunburned boy in a rickety vegetable wagon absurdly out of place in this canyon of cobblestones, shops, street-cars, drays, carriages, bicycles, pedestrians. It was terribly hot.

The boy's eyes popped with excitement and bewilderment.

"Pretty soon," Selina said. The muscles showed white beneath the skin of her jaw. "Pretty soon, Prairie Avenue. Great, big houses, and lawns, all quiet." She even managed a smile.

"I like it better home."

Prairie Avenue at last, turning in at Sixteenth-st. It was like calm after a storm. Selina felt battered, spent. There were groceries near Eighteenth, and at the other cross-roads—Twenty-second, Twenty-sixth, Thirty-first, Thirty-fifth. They were passing the great stone houses of Prairie Avenue of the '30s. Towers and towers, cornices and cupolas, hump-backed conservatories, porte-cochères, bow windows—here lived Chicago's rich that made their riches in pork and wheat and dry good; the selling of necessities to a city that clamoured for them.

"Just like me," Selina thought, humorously. Then another thought came to her. Her vegetables, canvas covered, were fresher than those in the nearby markets. Why not try to sell some of them here, in these big houses? In an hour she might earn a few dollars this way at retail prices slightly less than those asked by the grocers of the neighborhood.

She stopped her wagon in the middle of the block on Twenty-fourth Street. Arctely she stepped down the wheel, gave the reins to Dirk. The horses were no more minded to run than the wagon wheels on a carousel. She filled a large basket with the finest and freshest of her stock and with this on her arm looked up a moment at the house in front of which she had stopped. It was a four-story brownstone, with a hideous high stoop. Beneath the steps were a little vestibule and a door that was the tradesman's entrance. The kitchen entrance, she knew, was by way of the alley in the back, but this she would not take. Across the sidewalk, down a little flight of stone steps, into the vestibule under the porch. She looked at the bell-man's knob. She pulled it out, showed it in, and there sounded a jangling down the dim hallway beyond simple enough. Her hand was on the bell "pull" and she cried all the prim dam Peake's Peakes, in chorus "All right! Starve to death and let them take the farm, and Dirk, then."

At that she pulled the bell and Jangle went—the bell in the hall rang. Again.

Peeking up the hall the door opened to disclose a large woman in a checkered dress, a work apron, a cap apparently.

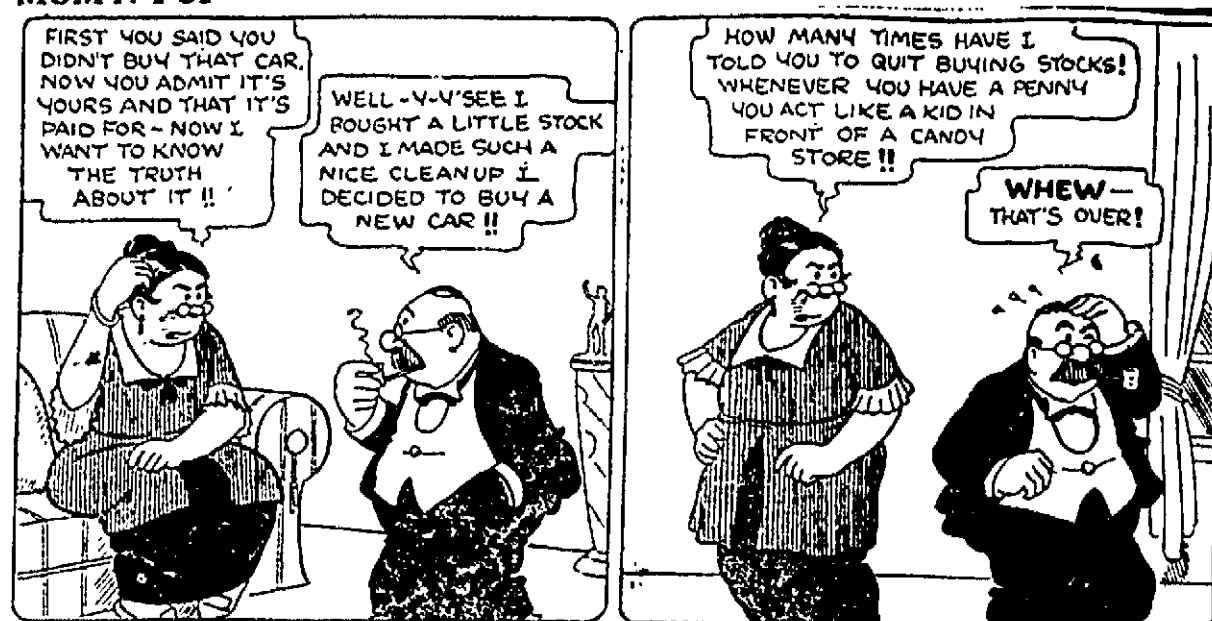

"Good morning," said the woman. "Would you like some fresh vegetables?"

With Rookie On Slab

Ehmke Holds Chicago to Four Hits As Boston Defeats White Sox, 5 to 1, and Moves to First Place.

If either the Yankee or the Giant fleeships of major league baseball teams for three years fall to return to port for the worlds series in October. Gotham fans will look to St. Louis shores for the wreckage.

On the first swing of McGraw's team through the west the Cardinals arose from an unwatered sea and shot the craft so full of holes that it wallowed into second and nearly fell to third place before encountering friendly winds at Cincinnati which carried it home in the lead. The Browns are now engaged in visiting the same indignity upon the Yankees which the Cardinals forced upon the Glaxos. Monday the world champions lost their third consecutive game to St. Louis as Wingard, a recruit, took his second contest of the year from the Huggins crew, 5 to 2. Ken Williams secured his first home of the season and Jacobson his fifth. Sam Jones was treated roughly.

Ehmke held Chicago to four hits as Boston beat the White Sox, 5 to 1, and moved into first place. Detroit advanced to within a few points of the Yankees and Irl Collins pitched a five-hit game and beat the Athletics, 5 to 3. Cleveland continued its winning streak and pulled another game away from the cellar with a 6 to 1 victory over Washington. The Braves secured from the Browns, played third base for the Indians and made two hits.

GIANTS GAIN FULL GAME
In the national the Giants gained a full game on Chicago by defeating the Pirates, 6 to 4, as the Cubs lost to Brooklyn, 4 to 3. Wilson, a substitute outfielder, cleaned the sacks with a three-base hit off Cooper for the New York victory.

Dazzy Vance fanned 11 Cubs while Kaufman, Chicago hurler, forced in the tying Boston run after which Stock produced the winner with a single during a ninth inning rally.

The seventh homerun of the season for Cy Williams decided a pitching duel between Luque and Mitchell in which the Phillies beat the Reds, 4 to 2. Timely hitting gave Cooney's steady pitching gave Boston a 4 to 2 win over St. Louis. "Dhauno" Collins, has hit 1400 up to date on the present western trip of the Red Sox, getting a double and single Monday.

Albert Strokes, former Rockford Three Eye league catcher, who was given a tryout by the Boston Red Sox this spring has been signed by the Milwaukee club of the American association.

Dave Keefe, Milwaukee hurler, has been sold to the Portland Pacific Coast league club.

Dundee Takes Beating From
Sam Mandell

Chicago—Johnny Dundee, New York junior lightweight, and featherweight champion of the world, was defeated by a wide margin by Sammy Mandell of Rockford in ten rounds at East Chicago, Ind., Monday night. The title was not involved as Mandell was over the junior lightweight limit and Dundee was a pound under that figure.

The champion was able to land only half dozen effective punches in the ten rounds while the Rockford lightweight continually pecked left into Dundee's face and shook him with jolting right crosses. In the third round Dundee sent two sweeping left hooks to his opponent's chin and set him back on his heels, but Mandell's recovery was rapid and he continued to set his bewildering pace.

The bout officially opened the new $50,000 open air arena at East Chicago.

Buffalo—Frankie Scott, Buffalo welterweight, outpointed Johnny Karr of Cleveland in ten rounds.

YOUNG THURSTON
SHINES ON SLAB
FOR WHITE ROSE

Youthful Pitcher Ranks As Best on Comiskey's Hurling Staff

Chicago—One of the biggest sensations of the early season in the American League has been Hollis Thurston, White Sox pitcher. Thurston's performance on the mound has exceeded expectations. And then some! At present he ranks as the one best bet on the Comiskey hurling staff. With Urban Faber ailing, Thurston has stepped into the breach and made good with a vengeance. In a recent series with the Yankees the big fellow literally stood the Huggins outfit on its head.

Thurston came to the White Sox last year from the Browns. All told, he worked in 45 games, winning seven and losing eight. He allowed 3.12 earned runs per game and was eighth in the list in giving bases on balls, issuing 38, only hit one batter all season and didn't make a single wild pitch.

For a pitcher, Thurston is an exceptionally good batter. He hit .216 in 1923. Uhle, Cleveland, and Walberg, Athletics were the only hurlers to obtain a higher batting average.

Whether Thurston will keep up his good work is problematical. He may, and then again he may not. At any rate, his work has been one of the bright spots in the White Sox play to date.

ORANGE GOLF TEAM
JINXED IN TOURNEY

Appleton high school Saturday took a lowly position in the second annual state golf tournament at Racine in which three men were entered. One of the three, Henry Johnson, was substituted at the last minute for Lester Beaulieu who was unable to accompany the team. Johnson had very little practice before the meet, but shot a creditable score considering his inexperience. The high school golfers are looking forward to greater success in the next tournament, for which they intend to take plenty of practice.

Columbus, O.—Carl Tremaine, Cleveland bantam, won the judge's decision over Eddie O'Dowd, Columbus, O. in 12 rounds.

Several dislocated cartilages in one knee, however, have ruined Hoffman's chances, and he must retire from athletics.

FOX RIVER PAPER
TEAM LOSES FIRST
GAME IN OSHKOSH

Appleton Millmen Are Beaten, 6 to 4, in Tilt with McMillans

Fox River Paper Co. Baseball team of Appleton Sunday afternoon tasted defeat for the first time this season when the Oshkosh McMillans won, 6 to 4, at Oshkosh. The score was tied, 2 to 2, up to the ninth, when the Fox River team forged ahead with two runs. Their victory was short-lived, however, for the Macs piled up four tallies. There was a hot dispute over the final homerun poked by Schultz in the last half of the ninth with one man on. The invaders as well as some of the fans sitting near the line claimed the ball fell at least a yard outside and when it stopped rolling was more than 15 feet out, but the umpire called it a fair ball and it cost the Millmen the game.

Elmer, the McMillan pitcher, poled the other homer. These two hits and one other which was spoiled by Bakes who caught it, were the only outfield flies poled during the contest.

Kirk hit into a double play when, with Ansorge on first and S. Tornow on second, he poled the apple directly into the hands of the third baseman, who tagged Tornow and caught Ansorge at second. He made up for this later when he poled two doubles.

Last did his stuff as backstop in fine shape, stopping five men who attempted to steal second.

Tornow pulled down 7 men by the strikethrow route to 4 for Elmer. The McMillans committed 5 errors while the invaders pulled but 2.

The score by innings:

WILLS FAILS TO

15-ROUND CONTEST

Giant Negro's Championship Aspirations Receive Setback

By Associated Press
New York—The prestige of Harry Wills as a contender for the heavyweight title is materially diminished Tuesday as a result of his failure to obtain no better than a judge's verdict over Barry Madden, New York Irishman, with whom he fought a colorless though bloody 15 round bout in the Queensboro A. C., Long Island City, Monday night.

Wills' victory was decisive enough and as clean-cut as a point verdict could be, but the game Irishman took all that his massive Negro opponent could send and still retained his equilibrium. Wills' failure to stop Madden was one of the biggest upsets of the season as the Negro was a 3 to 1 favorite to administer to Madden his first dose of knockout medicine.

Madden fought a purely defensive fight. He was loudly cheered by the 20,000 spectators for his gameness. There were no knockdowns although twice it appeared that Madden must collapse from the fury of the Negro's potent blows.

Only at intervals did Madden carry the fight to the Negro, who came out of the scuffle without a mark and apparently fresh at the end of the fifteenth round.

The best bout of the evening was the six-round preliminary between Jimmy Slattery, Buffalo light heavyweight, and Jack Lynch, Arizona. The Buffalo boy won the verdict easily but lacked the wallop to drop his foe.

Twenty-five representatives of the clubs of the state were present at the meeting and they will have part in an informal golf tourney this afternoon.

Regulars Stage Comeback in Late Innings After Millmen Take Lead

Appleton Regulars Sunday afternoon invaded Kimberly in the Kromer circuit and defeated the Millmen, 16 to 4, after Kimberly had piled up a lead of four runs in the second and third stanzas. The Regulars romped away with the victory easily after tying the score in the sixth, bringing in six, two and four runs in the next three innings.

Schueler's hunt in the fifth started the Appleton rally, and Ashman's twobagger in the seventh, which brought in two men, opened another storm of hits which ended after the invaders had added six runs to their tally. Besides accounting for two runs, Ashman caught a good game, picking the apple out of the air and from the dirt with out a fault. His pegs to second spoiled a number of attempts to steal. An error by the second baseman allowed one man to get away with a theft, while the Regulars had nine pilfered bases to their credit.

PITCHING AGES
OF 1923 SEASON
FAIL TO REPEAT

Luque and Uhle, High Ranking Tossers of Former Year, Find Going Hard

Major league pitchers seldom have two big years in succession. George Uhle of Cleveland led the American league pitchers last season. Adolf Luque of Cincinnati topped the National, yet these two pitchers have had trouble winning consistently this year.

Uhle and Luque have as much stuff as ever but victories fail to come with the regularity of last season.

It is a difficult matter to explain this unusual baseball situation. It seems to just so happen. However, there are some contributing causes. A most unusual case was that of Jim Bagby of the Cleveland Indians. In 1920 he won 31 games, a remarkable feat. His work aided greatly in the winning of the pennant.

The following season he was an in and out, unable to break even. The next year he passed out so his glory was of very short duration.

"It's too much to expect Luque to have as big a season as last year," was the consensus of the Cincinnati players this spring in discussing their pennant chances. Most of the players picked Pete Donahue as their 1924 pitching ace.

MUST HAVE BREAKS

Such an opinion rather surprised me, as I felt sure all of them would figure Luque for another big season. "Pitchers seldom have two big years in succession," remarked one of the veterans.

"The winning pitcher must get the breaks and Dame Fortune is a fickle person. Luque pitched great ball in 1922, as good as in 1923, but couldn't win consistently. He simply didn't get the breaks."

Last season the breaks came his way and, plus good pitching, he had a great year. It's asking too much to have the breaks again favor him as they did last year. Luck seems to run in cycles in baseball."

So far the dope of the Cincinnati players has run true to form. Luque has pitched good ball, but hasn't been favored by the breaks. Pete Donahue has justified the early season opinion of the Reds.

STARS GET CARELESS

No doubt the breaks of the game play a large part in a pitcher's success. Major league records bear out such a statement.

Sometimes a pitcher, after a big year, takes too much for granted and doesn't get in the top form of the previous year. Lack of condition often proves a handicap.

Then again, success often has a tendency to make a pitcher grow a trifle careless. Instead of working carefully on each batter and putting some thought back of every pitch, he is liable to underestimate the ability of the opposition.

To repeat in the major with a big year, a pitcher must be at the top of his game and favored by the breaks.

Meeting of State League Manages Results in Agreement with Kaukauna

T. E. McGillan, president of the Wisconsin State baseball league, Monday afternoon called a meeting of the directors at the Conway hotel here to discuss the baseball situation in Kaukauna and its relation to the financial success of other clubs in the circuit. Several managers had complained of the class of ball played by Kromer's staff and asserted that they would be unable to play the Electric City outfit unless its standard were raised to that of the rest of the loop.

After a lengthy discussion, in which most of the directors lauded Kromer's efforts to train youthful players for the future but deprecated the fact that his venture probably would be a financial failure for several years, Kromer agreed to bring his team up to the mark set by the rest of the clubs.

So confident is the Kaukauna manager of his prospects that he declared himself willing to back his claims for the future in any way possible. His arguments finally convinced his associates in the loop, and they agreed to carry on with him after he had stated he would yield to their urgings and improve his lineup.

New York—Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, and Erminio Spalla, Italian holder of the European title, signed for 12 rounds at the Yankee stadium on June 28.
